HEALTHCARE

FIT
FOR THE FUTURE

As a healthcare company, continuous improvement is your daily service commitment to patients and healthcare professionals. Healthcare, like many industries, is ever-changing due to mergers, consolidation, regulatory complexities and other environmental factors. Professional and innovative supply chain partners are an absolute requirement since availability of products is critical and supply chain performance essential for you to meet your daily service commitment, now and in the future. No logistics company understands that better than CEVA.

Through its experience with many leading healthcare companies, CEVA Logistics has extensive knowledge of the high level of innovation in the healthcare industry. Every day, new techniques and products are being developed as nanotechnology and miniaturization add new territory in the field of drug discovery. In addition, the increasing speed of material development in the optical industry affects product life cycles and the rate of product introductions.

Such an industry demands a flawless organization of processes in an environment of operations excellence, an environment in which the pursuit of continuous improvement is leading and guaranteed to support the major task of cost containment.

CEVA is a leading partner for healthcare companies and organizations worldwide.

Making Your Supply Chain Fit for the Future

The healthcare industry is becoming more specialized and fragmented. Greater product range, more expensive products, solution sets, temperature control requirements and the increasing demand for home delivery require an optimally controlled operating environment allowing for continuous improvement and innovation. Partnerships between manufacturers, hospitals and logistics providers are essential to make sure that the high supply chain standards are met.
